第二节书面表达（满分 25 分）

（一）评分原则

1. 本题总分为 25 分，按 5 个档次给分。
2. 评分时，先根据文章所表达的要点和语言质量初步确定其所属档次，然后以该档次的要求来衡量，确定或调整档次，最后给分。
3. 词数少于 80 或多于 120 的，从总分中减去 2 分。
4. 评分时，应注意的主要内容为：内容要点、应用词汇和语法结构的数量和准确性以及

上下文的连贯性。

5. 拼写与标点符号是语言准确性的一个方面，评分时，应视其对交际的影响程度予以考虑。英、美拼写及词汇用法均可接受。

6. 如书写较差以致影响交际，可将分数，降低一个档次。

(四) One possible version:

Dear Alan,

I can't wait to share with you the wonderful news--my class has won the championship of the school basketball game!

The final game was full of fierce competition between my class and our rival, Class 5, Senior III. All the players were trying their best to score and block the opponent team. Though as an audience, I couldn't compete on the court, I, as well as other classmates, cheered the loudest for our team. At last, we won the game by 52:49, a narrow success. I felt so proud for my class and again felt the true spirit of teamwork.

This is my most inspiring news recently. How about yours? Looking forward to your school life.

Yours,
Li Hua

附：听力原文

Text 1

M: You know, I still like those old cartoons. Donald Duck is my favorite character.

W: Really? I only watch action movies. I think those old cartoons are out of fashion and silly.
Only babies watch them.

Text 2

M: It's cold outside!

W: Let's setting up a fire in the house.

M: I didn't get any wood from the store.

W: We can borrow some from our neighbor.

Text 3

W: When will you get home tomorrow? We'll wait for you to have a family reunion.

M: I will try to take the bus at 10:00. Then I will be home by 10:10. If I don't catch the first bus, I will be home at 10:30.

Text 4

W: Thank you for helping me. Can we meet again at the same time next Sunday?

M: I think it'll be better to have two one-hour lessons, instead of one long lesson.

W: Good idea! How about Wednesday and then Saturday?

Text 5

W: I'm glad you're back! I was so worried about you! What took you so long?

M: I was held up in the heavy traffic.

Text 6

M: Shopping for furniture can be such a pain! It's so crowded here!

W: Let's write down the prices first. A sofa is $600; bookshelves are $450 each; a bed is $320; and a dining table and chairs are $800 a set. I think we can get a cheaper sofa in IKEA, and we can get the bed, the dining table and chairs from Design 2000.

M: That's good. Wait a minute. One more thing, we need a lamp for our study, remember? I think we can get a nice one from Amazon for about $150. Let me see, we don't need a bedside table anymore.

Text 7

W: How did you get interested in country music?

M: Well, when my wife and I first got our record player, we started buying all kinds of records.
Soon, I found I was buying more country music records than any other kind.

W: How did you starting working for the radio station?

M: I thought there should be a radio program of country songs, so I went to CBC and suggested it.
That was how we started the program called "Golden Country Time".

W: Then you were asked to write articles to explain the background of the songs.

M: Yes, but soon I got tired of running to the library to find information, so I started buying country song books and building up my own library.

Text 8

M: How would you like to celebrate your 50th birthday, dear?

W: I'd like you to organize a surprise party for me.

M: Sylvia, I know what you want. But a surprise party is impossible. Don't you remember when I tried to organize a surprise party for your 40th? You found out right away.

W: Don't remind me. I was so disappointed.

M: I remembered to get everything ready. But I just forgot to tell people that it was supposed to be a surprise. But the party wasn't disappointing. I mean, it wasn't a surprise, but it was great.

W: Well, I really don't care what we do. Do whatever you want.

M: Oh, come on, Sylvia. Let's plan something interesting. We could have a swimming party, or a covered dish supper. It could be fun.

W: Let's just go out to dine with a few friends.

M: But why?

W: Because it's easy. I don't want to have to do all the planning.

Text 9

W: Chris, I would like to know, what kind of food you eat in Belgium?

M: We have our fish, our meat, our wines, our fruit...

W: I mean what is popular about Belgian food?

M: Well, it's a bit different in Belgium than I think it is here in New York. We really enjoy the tables. We don't go out for dinner that often but when we go out we stay at a table for three or four hours. It starts with appetizers, then it may be a soup, then it's the main dish, then it's still an icecream or something.

W: It takes so much time to have dinner in your country!

M: Yeah. We really enjoy eating and it goes slow. Last winter, a friend from Portugal went to Belgium with me. For Christmas dinner, we met at 5:30 and then we started with some drinks. I think we ate from 6 o'clock in the afternoon till 12 o'clock that night.

W: Wow! You must be fat there if you eat that much.

M: In fact we don't. We don't do it that often, but if we do, then of course the next day or the next few days you see people just don't eat much.

Text 10

Scientists used to think that men are different from animals because they can think and learn. Nowadays they know that animals can learn too. So scientists are beginning to understand that men are different from animals because they can speak. They make noises when they are afraid, or angry, or unhappy. Apes are our nearest cousins. They can understand some things more quickly than human beings, and one or two have learned a few words. But they are still different from us. They cannot join words and make sentences. They cannot think like us because they have no language. They can never think about the past or the future. Language is a wonderful thing. Man has been able to develop civilization because he has language. Every child can speak his own language very well when he is four or five, but no animal learns to speak.
